Coldcalm and Children's Coldcalm are one of the safest brands of cold medicines. There are no known side effects (including drowsiness), no rebound effects and are non-habit-forming; there is no risk of Reye syndrome in children. There is no risk of overdosing. Coldcalm will not interact with other drugs, such as cough medications, or herbal treatments. Coldcalm is not contraindicated with pre-existing conditions. Moms only need to buy one medicine for everyone in the household—from 3-year-olds to seniors. Professionals who need to remain alert, such as drivers, will not be impaired by drowsiness. Those who are on other medications or who are taking vitamins can act quickly to start treating cold symptoms and do not need to interrupt other treatments or healthy lifestyle routines. Even high-risk patients with heart or liver problems can safely use the Coldcalm line.
