

April 2010 Newsletter

A note from Tracie.....

When I purchased the store over 2 years ago, I had great plans for the future. We expanded, started a website and even opened another location in Washington, MO. We have been struggling for the last year and a half in the St. Clair market. The economic downturn has hit this area hard and we were gravely effected. I can no longer afford to keep the St. Clair location up and operating as Root Diggin' Nation. We will still have our Washington location, as it is growing bigger every day. I hate to be put on the list of another St. Clair business that is closing, but I have been left with no choice in the matter. As a result, the St. Clair store is now full of products, fixtures and equipment that is for sale for an incredible price. We are still open regular hours in St. Clair. Starting the week of April 12, we will switch to Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays only to accomodate the sale of these items in St. Clair only. We have a close date for that location set for May 1, 2010.

Shop early for best selection!

We have truly appreciated your business and support in the St. Clair area over the years and hope you will follow us to Washington. Tracie will be opening a new business in the building at 45 South Main and can still bring pre-paid items to St. Clair for pickup.
