why natracare tampons

Women today are conscious of the need to restrict their contact with synthetic materials, skin irritants and unnecessary chemicals and additives. This is why natracare certified organic 100% cotton tampons are appreciated by women for their comfortable and reliable protection and care and responsibility for our environment.

Natracare tampons are exclusively made from only fully certified organic 100% cotton. They are available in a range of absorbencies in both applicator and non-applicator styles to suit your menstrual flow and personal preference. The dispensing applicators for Natracare tampons are made from only chlorine-free card and not from plastic. If you are currently using a tampon that dispenses with a plastic applicator, then you may be concerned to know that apart from being made from petroleum products, they will also contain plasticisers, an additive which makes the plastic pliable and which contains phthalates.

All products are totally-chlorine free and women can be reassured by the fact that Natracare tampons do not contain any synthetic materials, such as rayon or polypropylene, or any chemical additives such as surfactants, fragrances, dyes, or lubricants. Choosing only fully certified organic cotton removes the risk of direct exposure to residues from chemical pesticides, fertilisers, defoliants and fungicides commonly used on conventionally growcotton. Natracare tampons are made from 100% organic cotton which has been fully certified organic to the Global Organic Textiles Standard (GOTS) at the farm, where the cotton is grown, at the processor where the cotton is cleaned through to manufacture. In this way, there is a complete trail of custody for the organic process to guarantee that the Natracare tampons you buy are truly certified organic.

THE NATURAL DENTIST

You want healthy teeth and gums and protection from gum disease. But do you know what's in your favorite mouthwash and toothpaste? Ingredients such as alcohol, dye, harsh chemicals, detergents and artificial preservatives are not necessary for good oral care, and they can be absorbed through your gums.

Meet The Natural Dentist, natural mouth rinses and toothpastes that are effective and recommended by dentists. Our powerful blend of natural ingredients protects and soothes your mouth, without burning, staining or irritation.

Here is what natural means in our company. At The Natural Dentist, we create products from the highest quality plants and minerals found in nature, and we are committed to finding the most sustainable sources of ingredients.

We use ingredients in their purest possible forms, extracted and processed with methods that preserve their original beneficial properties. We choose natural ingredients that are truly effective, not just trendy or popular.

The Natural Dentist products contain no artificial sweeteners, dyes or preservatives.

Synthetic ingredients may be less expensive, but we believe that Nature was the true innovator and the highest quality source. Why choose artificial when nature does so much more?
