Greater West Bloomfield Chamber selects 2010 Young Entrepreneur of the year

The Greater West Bloomfield Chamber of Commerce announced its 2010 "Young Entrepreneur of the Year" award winner: West Bloomfield-native Stacy Goldberg, a registered nurse whose commitment to health, fitness and entrepreneurship will be recognized at the annual Chamber Awards Dinner on Tuesday, May 18 at 6:30 p.m. at Shenandoah Banquet Center in West Bloomfield.

The founder of two health-focused businesses in the last three years, Goldberg, through her companies, is dedicated to promoting healthier lifestyles. Both A Weigh of Life and What's In Your Cart? focus on making healthy choices when grocery shopping and on making lifestyle changes day-to-day that lead to living a healthier life.

What's In Your Cart?, additionally offers nutrition education in classrooms and is exclusively part of Plum Market's "Healthy Choices" program in West Bloomfield, Bloomfield Twp and Ann Arbor. Goldberg also provides nutrition education to nonprofits in the area, including the Jewish Federation and Alzheimer's Association, and serves as nutritionist for Danialle Karmanos' award-winning "Work It Out" program.

"Stacy's commitment to improving health in our community coupled with her entrepreneurial spirit and energy made her an exceptional choice," said Steven Tapper, event committee chair. "She is an impressive individual who truly is looking to make a difference. Our committee was very impressed."

Themed, "The Future is Ours-Moving Forward 2010," this year's West Bloomfield Chamber of Commerce Awards Dinner will also honor Johnny Karmo from Market Square as "Business Person of the Year," Seven restaurant as "Cool Business of the Year" and Credit Union ONE as "New Business of the Year."

Tickets for the event are $125 per person, $1,000 for a table of 10 or $1,500 for a sponsor table, which includes 10 tickets and an ad in the program.
